What is Import Export Code (IEC)?

An individual or a business entity needs a 10 digit code to import or export products or services. This code is known as Import Export Code or IEC and it is issued by DGFT, Ministry of Commerce and Industries, Govt. of India. Import Export Code and Import Export License are same. This code comes with lifetime validity. Once the required documents are submitted, the code is generated within 5-10 working days. This code can be issued in either your or company's name.

Advantages of IEC for Import Export Businesses

International Market Reach

Import Export Code helps you in order to take your business to the international market. Not only that, it will increase your revenue as well as growth.

Life Time Validity

IEC Registration is a permanent documentation which is valid for lifetime. You don't have to go through any procedure of updating, filing and renewal of IEC as would be not needed.

No Annual Maintenance

once you obtain the IEC Code, there will be any necessity of annual maintenance fee. It does not require any maintenance fee in any financial year for filing or renewal of the code.

Reduces the Risk of Illegal Transportation

IEC helps you to get rid of any illegal transportation or fraudulent imports and exports. IEC registration is a centralized registration which helps the officials to supervise and manage the transaction in a better manner which is undertaken as a part of cross border business.

No Return Filing

You don't need to file any return once you are done with registration for Import Export Code. After the allotment of the code, you don't require to follow any process to ensure that the validity is sustained.

Benefits of Schemes

IEC Code offers great benefit for Import Export business. An IEC registered business entity would be qualified to avail benefits or subsidies declared by the Customs, Export Promotion Council and other several authorities. After filing LUT under GST, the exporters are not required to pay taxes to make exports. If the exports are made by payment of taxes, the exporter can claim refunds of the paid tax amount.
